COURT WEEK.

Court week should always bring the printer and his patrons together. No friend of, or subscriber to the Republican, should ever think of coming to town on Court week, and returning home again, without first having visited the REPUBLICAN office. This you should do whether you owe us for subscription, job work or advertiseing, or not. It does us good to see you. And we are sure it will do you good to visit our beautiful and well arranged office. One look at our Gordon Press, will amply repay you for the trouble. Moreover, it would afford us extreme pleasure, to be personally acquainted with all our subscribers and patrons. We could then tell you face to face how difficult a task it is, to run a newspaper without money.

We have changed our rates as you perceive, and now charge for the REPUBLICAN $2,00 per annum if paid in advance; $2,50 if not paid within six months, and $3,00 per annum if not paid until the expiration of the year.

Our object in this is to induce all of our subscribers to adopt the advance paying system. It is better for you, it is much better for us. We do not want the $2,50 nor $3,00 rates and hope we will not be compelled to enforce them upon a single subscriber; but rest assured friends that tha only way you can save us from the performance of this painful duty is to pay in advance. If this is not done, our rates will be, most religiously enforced. Now we understand each other, let us therefore resolve to do our whole duty to each other, to the REPUBLICAN, to our great and patriotic party and let us resolve that the Republican party shall live and triumph in the State and Nation, and that Centre county shall break the copperhead chain which binds her and come forth once more in all the glory of freedom, redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled.

To this end let every subscriber and every man who owes us for Job Work call in and pay up during the week of Court. Persons who can not attend Court, can send the money with their neighbor. Strengthen our hands, friends. Let us have a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together, and with unity and harmony in our ranks we can safely predict the downfall—the utter destruction of copperheadism in our County.

AUDITOR GENERALS REPORT.

We have received from Colonel Jacob M. Campbell, Surveyor General, a copy of his report for the year 1870. From it we learn that the fees received during the year aggregated $54,703 60. Add to these the payments of purchase money, $68,446 65, and the total receipts foot up $143.150 26. The amount of all salaries in the office for the same time, including three extra clerks not provided for, is $23,400.

The amount of purchase money, interest and fees received being largely in excess of that of any one year for the past fifty years, and is greater, by at least fifty per cent, than the records show to have been received for any official year during the proceeding thirty-five years.

The foregoing exhibit of the revenue brought to the State Treasury through the operations of this department for the past year shows a most gratifying result.

The Surveyor reports that he has paid to the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, by order of the Commissioners of the Agricultural Land Scrip Fund, $24,178 35.

THE LAST DUEL.—Two San Francisco barbers engaged to fight a duel, agreed to start and walk around a block, and when they got within sight of each other to blaze away. When they turned the corner out of sight both started on a run in different directions, and one has sent from Alaska for his winter clothes, and the other has written to his wife from the City of Mexico, asking her to send his linen coat and palm-leaf hat.

HON. JAS. PIKE, whom the Republicans of New Hampshire have selected as their candidate for Governor, was a Methodist elder from 1841 to 1854, a member of the Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Congresses, and a colonel during the war in active service.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN COVODE.

Hon John Covode, while returning with his wife from West Chester where they had boen taking their children to school, stopped at Harrisburg where he was taken with a chillness and pains about the region of the heart, and in about one hour afterwards expired. His disease was supposed to be heart disease as previous to the attack, he had been in the enjoyment of good health. Mr. Covode was one of the most persevering and useful member of Congress that ever represented this Commonwealth in the U. S. Congress. The Harrisburg Telegraph in speaking of him says that another one has passed away whose useful career is an example and an encouragement; one who by the force of his natural abilities rose from obscurity to honor, and by his industrious energy placed himself among the most favored of the land.

John Covode was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, on the 17th of March, 1808, always, we believe, lived in the county of his birth. He enjoyed only the very limited opportunities accorded by public schools fifty years ago for obtaining an education; and these were very limited indeed. But like a true man he spent no time in regretting those things which were unattainable, but went sturdily to work to fight his way in the battle of life. Seeing that those who help themselves get on the best here, he at once applied himself to work, and in a short time became his own employer. He started a woolen manufactory, and used to walk to Pittsburg, forty miles, with his cloths to sell them, and lay in a necessary supply for his shop.

An anecdote will show more of the man than reams of generalization. Going into Pittsburg once, bent beneath several webs of cloth, he visited the store of M'Knight & Myers, then the leading dry goods house in that city. Mr. M'Knight, an old, shrewd and wealthy merchant, was attracted to the young manufacturer, and bought his wares. Covode then began the purchase of some supplies for his family, and in the course of the business, insisted on buying a low priced article against the urging of Mr. M'Knight. The controversy soon came to an end by the remark from Mr. Covode: "Mr. M'Knight, I can't take that article without going into debt, and into debt I won't go." From that day the most powerful patron in Pittsburg became a guardian of John Covode's fortunes, and to the day of Mr. McKnight's death, the young man, who hated debt, could have anything he wanted from the man most able to confer favors within the limits of a great city.

Prosperity came to Mr. Covode of course. His character became established. And when he had shown his ability so take care of his own affairs, his neighbors demanded that so good a manager should become the manager of theirs. He was elected to Congress for twelve years, and retired of his own free will, declining a renomination. He was chairman, for the second year, of the Republican State Central Committee when death overtook him, and was an effective man in every position he was called on to fill. A man of great natural force has gone from us, and a feeling of universal sorrow best attests the void which his untimely death has created. After a long life, well and nobly spent, he rests from his labors. The busy head is at peace. The true heart is still.

STATE TREASURER.—R. W. Mackey, received the Republican caucus nomination for State Treasurer, and last week was elected by the Pennsylvania Legislature, he receiving the votes of all the Republican Senators and Members, seventy in number. Mr. D. Barr, also of Pittsburg, his Democratic opponent, received sixty votes. The result is in accordance with the expectations of several days past. Although combinations and coalitions were for a time talked of and attempted, all failed, and Mr. Mackey had no organized opposition.

Mr. Mackey was the regular Republican nominee last year, but was defeated by Gen. Irvin, who bolted from the party, and was elected by the votes of all the Democratic members and a few scalawag bolting Republicans. Mr. Mackey made the best of officers, and his former administration of the same office was highly creditable to the State, and proved him to be one of the ablest financers in the country. We congratulate the State and the Republican party, as well as Mr. Mackey, upon the happy result of this annual vexed question.

WHY IS MONEY SCARCE?—CONCEALED CONTRACTION.

The lawyers and politicians, who make up the larger part of Congress, know so little of the laws of trade that on the subject of currency they have for years been divided into factions favoring contraction or expansion by government action. It seems to be believed that the factions have thus far neutralized each other.

When two parties to a controversy after long discussion seem no nearer agreement than at first, it is well to look back and see if the ground on which both stand is sound. We propose to do this, and to show how, since the close of the war, one side has, almost without knowing it, steadily beaten the other.

In 1865, soon after the close of the civil war, the amount of legal tender and fractional currency was seven hundred and four millions; National Bank notes issued, one hundred and ninety millions; State Bank notes, on which internal revenue tax was paid, seventy-eight millions; total in round numbers, nine hundred and seventy-five millions. At this time the South was almost without circulating medium, coin or bullion having been hidden or seized by the Confederate authorities, and Confederate notes, which were foreed into circulation, becoming worthless on the close of the rebellion. State Bank notes had also for the most part disappeared.

The population that was to use these nine hundred and seventy-five millions was, by the restoration of the National authority at the South, suddenly increased nearly 50 per cent. To meet this increase of demand there were available one hundred and nine millions of notes authorized to be issued to National Banks—an increase in volume of 11 per cent. But fifty-five millions of this could only be issued as new banks were formed. In 1865, the currency of the National Banks at the South (the region where rebellion prevailed) was but about two millions out of one hundred and ninety millions. During the year following it rose to about five and a half millions. The increase throughout the country during the same period was one hundred and one million. This gain was counteracted by Secretary McCulloch's contraction of about fifty millions, and by the retirement of fifty millions in addition of State Bank notes, leaving an increase of demand over supply of about 40 per cent. Enlargement of demand, supply unchanged, is equivalent to lessening of supply, demand unchanged; hence the currency was contracted during 1866 about 30 per cent of its volume, mainly by causes beyond Government control. This was accompanied by a fall in the average price of gold during the year of about 15 per ct. Secretary McCulloch, judging by his reports, seeme to have had no idea that this process was going on. The price of gold fell to 125 in April, 1866, when Congress restricted the Secretary's contraction to four millions a month. It rose after this, and continued to do so till counteracted.

But the population that had to use this currency increased otherwise. From 1866 to 1867 it increased, according to returns from assistant assessors under direction of the Bureau of Statistics, over two millions, or over 5 per ct. In December of the latter year Congress forbade Treasury contraction. From August 31st, 1865, to November, 1867, the legal tender and fractional currency had been contracted over seventy millions—about 7 per cent. From October 31st, 1866, to November 1st, 1867, the decrease was forty-two millions, or over four per cent, while the population gained five.

Farther, from January, 1st, 1865, to October 1st, 1870, 1,832,856 immigrants are reported by the Bureau of Statistics as entering the country under survey of collectors of customs. It is true that we have no knowledge of the number who entered it not classed as "immigrants," or unknown to the custom officers. Neither have we any account of those who left the country during that time; nor does the Bureau total agree with that of its "statement of nationality of alien passengers arrived," nor do we know the number of Americans who returned. However, the returns of the census of 1870, so far as known, indicate a population of about forty millions; an increase since the stoppage of contraction of about one and one-third millions yearly, or 3.7 per cent, a year on the population of 1867. This is equivalent to a contraction of about three per cent. yearly. The expansionists have never succeeded in carrying a farther increase of currency, while the contractionists seem to have learned that contraction was going on, and have simply devoted themselves to defeating expansion. Meanwhile, the effect of contraction has been a growing dullness of trade, and tending to stagnation rather than enterprise.

Had Congress adopted at the outset the plan that we have urged so persistently, viz: interchangeability, at the option of the holders of greenbacks and interest-bearing bonds, all financial difficulties with which the nation has been beset, would have been avoided.

CUT DOWN THE OFFICERS.

The Doylestown Democrat of the 27th says:

"The election of Colonel Dechert, which gives the Democrats the State Senate, will put it in their power to remedy some of the evils long complained of in that body. One of the first things to be done should be a reduction in the number of offices the Radicals have made for that body. The little army of clerks, and "assistants," and pages, and pasters and folders should be reduced to a peace footing. There are a great many more officers in the Senate than are required, about double the number there were when the Democrats were in power. Our party has complained, time and again, of this large increase in useless officials, and charged it was only done to find places and salaries for needy politicians. Besides it is robbing the taxpayers. A Democratic Senate cannot go back on the record the party has made on this question. This reduction in officials must be made, or we shall be charged with being as extravagant and regardless of the taxpayers as the Radicals.—Reduce the officers in the Senate to the number employed before the war, for an increase is not required. Democrats should avoid, as they come into power, falling into the errors that have wrecked our opponents. It cannot be claimed that the Senate has passed into our control by Democrats votes alone, for many honest Republicans, despairing of needed reforms in their own party, voted for Dechert. Therefore we appeal to Senators not to betray the trust confided to them, but let our opponents and the taxpayers see that as a party we only want the power to put in practice the reforms we profess to advocate."

The Doylestown Democrat is one of the ablest and staunchest Democratic papers in the State; but like the Watchman of this place it belongs to the Rip Van Winkle school of politicians. With all its pretended wisdom and honesty, it appears not yet to hove learned that the Democratic party is a fraud, a cheat, a cesspool of corruption, and that all its promises to the people are as groundless as the "baseless fabric of a vision." They have had the majority in this Co., for nine years. The Ring has stolen from the honest taxpayers of this county an almost incalculable sum of money. This Court House Ring has grown fat and rich and saucy off the dear people, and yet that same dear people appear to enjoy being skined by these fellows. They never reformed anything. They never pretend to keep a promise and practice all-together the doctrine, that "there is no heart in politics."

Talk of the Democrats reforming the Senate—cutting down expenses or lifting the heavy burdens from the shoulders of the tax-payers. Could Judas Iscariot be honest? Could Benedict Arnold have been anything but a traitor? And yet the Doylestown Democrat expects its party, composed of such men to reform things. Bah! Let the Democratic Senate pass the $9,500,000 swindle if it dare.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The Union Pacific Railroad Co., have refused; intentionally, on interest accrued on the Government lands issued them for the construction of their road. Secretary Boutwell has placed their case in the hands of Attorney Gen. Akerman with instructions to proceed at once to the collection of all back dues.

The Southern Pacific is in some difficulty about the charter of the Memphis and El Paso Railroad, that has to be lobbying. Then the Northern Pacific finds its vast plans for introducing immigrants and settling its lands interfered with by the Franco-Prussian war. But this is temporary. The minor land-grant railroads sympathize in the distress of their bigger brethren, and may the action of Congress destroy any lingering hopes they may have of securing subsidies.

IN 1869 New York issued 2,348 building permits, and Philadelphia 4,878. In 1870 New York issued 2,189 building permits, and Philadelphia 5,237, or more than twice as many. Is it any wonder that even the free-trade Evening Post admits that "there is no doubt that industrious mechanics, clerks, and laboring people live far more comfortably in Philadelphia than in New York?" So much for protected manufactures.

WHAT OUR CONTEMPORARIES SAY OF THE BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

The following extracts are a few of the many notices from our brethren of the press:

The "Bellefonte Republican" has changed form to eight page, which, by the way, is no improvement. Barring this, it is neat, and thorough Republican.—Altoona Tribune.

The publishers of the "Bellefonte Republican" are bringing their paper out in very handsome style. It is one of the neatest papers in the State.—Lebanon Courier.

The "Bellefonte Republican" has been enlarged, and changed to an eight page paper. It looks as bright as a silver dollar, and is really an able and racy journal.—Hollidaysburg Register.

The "Bellefonte Republican" made its appearance last week in an eight page form, looking quite neatly. Its radicalism, unfortunately, is as rank as ever, notwithstanding its good looks.—Emporium Independent.

The "Bellefonte Republican" begins the New Year in fine style, by greatly improving its appearance. It is a very neat specimen of country typography.—Lewisburg Chronicle.

The "Bellefonte Republican" comes to us enlarged and changed to an eight page paper. We are glad to know our cotemporary is able to give such evidence of its prosperity, for no journal in the interior more richly deserves it.—Blair County Radical.

The "Bellefonte Republican" comes to us in enlarged and quarto form. While we believe the former style of the "Republican" the better, we confess that the appearance of the journal in its present form, is about all a printer could desire. The "Republican is cleanly printed, judiciously edited, and is a power on the side of Right and Republicanism.—Tyrone Herald.

The "Republican" made its appearance this week in an eight page form, after the style of the Watchman. It looks much better than in its old shape, but is not yet able to compare with this journal. Of course its politics are not in the least improved—it is only its form that has been remodeled. Like the ass that dressed himself in a lion's skin, it betrays itself by its attempt to roar.—Watchman, Jan. 6, 1871.

THE BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.—This paper comes to us in the form of a quarto since the inauguration of the new year, presenting a very beautiful appearance, and well filled with lively and interesting reading. It is a sound Republican paper, opposed to the free trade dogmas of the Democracy, and is doing a good work in old Centre. We congratulate it upon this substantial evidence of its increasing prosperity.—Gazette & Bulletin, Williamsport.

Still they come—our ever vigilent and welcome Republican exchanges—"enlarged and improved"—bearing tangible evidence of their appreciation by their patrons. Now we note the "Bellefonte Republican" in quarto form and enlarged, making it a model of typographical neatness and manifesting increased vigor in its able Editorial staff.—Mifflinburg Telegraph.

JOURNALISTIC.—The "Bellefonte Republican" came to us last week enlarged to an eight page paper, with a neat heading, materially changing its appearance for the better.—Philipsburg Journal.

The "Bellefonte Republican" has changed to a quarto and presents a very handsome appearance. It is with pleasure we notice this evidence of its prosperity and wish it a large and profitable career under its present able leadership.—East Brady Independent.

Two ladies were talking about the sparrows and their usefulness in ridding the city of the canker worms, which used to be such a nuisance. One said the noisy chirping of the sparrows, early in the morning when she wanted to sleep, was as great an evil as the worms; the other disagreed. Just then a gentleman came in and was appealed to: "Mr. A., which do you think the worst, sparrows or worms?" He immediately answered, "I don't know; I never had sparrows."

The liberal-hearted proprietor of a lager-beer saloon in Rutland, Vt., recently lost his pocket book, containing $600. It was found and returned by a young man, and the gratified Teuton thus gave vent to his delight: "Bob, you is one honest man. I tell you what I'll do: I'll shake you for the lager."

BELLEFONTE, PA.

WISHING.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Of all the amusements of the mind,
From logic down to fishing,
There isn't one that you can find
So very cheap as "wishing;"
A very choice diversion, too,
If we but rightly use it,
And not, as we are apt to do,
Pervert it, and abuse it.

I wish—a common wish indeed—
My purse was somewhat fatter,
That I might cheer the child of need,
And not my pride to flatter!
That I might make oppression reel,
As only gold can make it,
And break the tyrant's rod of steel,
As only gold can break it.

I wish—that sympathy and love,
And every human passion
That has its origin above,
Would come and keep in fashion;
That scorn, and jealousy, and hate,
And every base emotion,
Were buried fifty fathoms deep
Beneath the waves of ocean.

I wish—that friends were always true,
And motives always pure:
I wish the good were not so few,
I wish the bad were fewer;
I wish that persons ne'er forget
To heed their pious teaching;
I wish that practicing was not
So different from preaching.

I wish—that modest worth might be
Appraised with truth and candor;
I wish that innocence were free
From treachery and slander;
I wish that men their vows would mind;
That women ne'er were rovers;
I wish that wives were always kind,
And husbands always lovers.

AN ANGEL IN A SALOON.

A TRUE INCIDENT.

One afternoon in the month of June, 1870, a lady in deep mourning, and followed by a child, entered one of the fashionable saloons in the city of N——. The writer happened to be passing at the time, and impelled by curiosity followed her in to see what would ensue. Stepping up to the bar and addressing the proprietor, who happened to be present, she said:—

"Sir, can you assist me? I have no home, no friends, and am unable to work."

He glanced at her, and then at the child, with a mingled look of curiosity and pity. Evidently he was somewhat surprised to see a woman in such a place begging, but without asking any questions gave her some change, then turning to those present, he said:—

"Gentlemen, here is a lady in distress, can't some of you assist her a little?" They all cheerfully acceed to this request, and soon a purse of two dollars was raised and placed in her hand.

"Madam," said the gentleman who gave her the money, "why do you come in saloons? It isn't a very proper place for a lady; and why are you driven to such a step?"

Turning her mournful, yet expressive eyes upon the speaker, with an expression I shall never forget, she replied:—

"Sir, I know it isn't a proper place for me to be in, and you ask why I am driven to this step. I will tell you in short words," pointing to a bottle behind the bar labeled "whiskey," "that is what has driven me to this—WHISKEY. I was once happy and surrounded by all the luxuries that wealth could procure, with a fond and indulgent husband. But in an evil hour he was tempted, and not possessing the will to resist that temptation, fell, and in one short year my dream of happiness was over, my happy home forever broke and desolated, and the kind husband and the wealth some called mine, lost, lost, never to return, and all by the accursed wine cup. You see before you only a wreck of my former self homeless and friendless, with nothing left me in this world but this little child." And weeping bitterly, she affectionately caressed the golden curls that shaded a face of exquisitive loveliness. Regaining her composure, and turning to the proprietor of the saloon, she continued:—

"Sir, the reason I occasoinally enter a place like this is to implore those who deal in the deadly poison to desist, to stop a business that spreads desolation, ruin, poverty and starvation. Think one moment of your own loved ones, and then immagine them in the situation I am in. I appeal to your better nature, I appeal to your heart, for I know you possess a kind one, to retire from a business so ruinous to your patrons. Did you know that the money you receive in exchange for the vile stuff you sell across this bar, is the same as taking the bread from the mouths of the famishing wives and children of your customers? That it strips the clothes from their backs, deprives them of all the comforts of life, and throws unhappiness, misery, crime and desolution into their once happy homes? Oh, sir, I implore, beseech and pray you to retire from a business you blush to own you are engaged in before your fellow men, and enter a business that will not only be profitable to yourself, but your fellow creatures also. Please excuse me if I have spoken too plainly, but I could not help it when I thought of the misery and unhappiness it has caused me."

"Madam, I am not offended," he answered, in a voice tremulous with emotion, "but thank you from my heart for what you have said."

"Mamma," said the child, taking her mother's hand, "here a gentleman who wants me to sing 'Little Bessie' for him. Shall I do it?"

"Yes, darling, if they wish you to."

They all joined in the request, and, placing her in a chair she sang in a sweet childish voice, the following beautiful song:—

"Out in the gloomy night sadly I roam;
I have no mother dear, no pleasant home;
Nobody cares for me, no one would cry,
Even if poor little Bessie should die.
Weary and tired I've been wandering all day,
Asking for work, but I'm too small they say:
On the damp ground I must now lay my head,
Father's a drunkard, and mother is dead.

We were so happy till father drank rum,
Then all our sorrow and trouble begun;
Mother grew pale and wept every day—
Baby and I were too hungry to play.
Slowly they faded 'till one summer night
Found their dead faces all silent and white;
Then with big tears slowly dropping I said;
Father's a drunkard and mother is dead.

Oh, if the temperance men only would find
Poor wretched father and talk very kind;
If they would stop him from drinking why then,
I should be so very happy again.
Is it too late, temperance men? please try?
Or poor little Bessie must soon starve and die;
All the day long I've been begging for bread,
Father's a drunkard, and mother is dead.

The scene I shall never forget to my dying day, and the sweet cadence of her musical voice still rings in my ears, and every word of the song, as it dropped from her lips, sunk deep into the hearts of those gathered around her. With her golden curls falling carelessly around her little shoulders, her face of almost etherial beauty, and looking so trustingly and confidently upon the men around, her beautiful blue eyes lighted up with a light that seemed not of this earth, formed a picture worthy of the pen of a poet or painter; although a statue of purity and innocence. The unfinished games of billiards were laid by, the cards thrown aside, the unemptied glass remained upon the counter, and all passed near, some with curiosity, some with sadness, and some with pity beaming from their eyes, entranced with the musical voice and beauty of a child, who seemed better fit to be with the angels above than in such a place.

At the close of the song many were weeping—men who had not shed a tear for years, now wept like a child. One young man who had resisted with scorn the pleading of a loving mother and dear friends to lead a bitter life, to desist from a course that was wasting his fortune, and ruining his health, now approached the child, and taking her hands while tears streamed down his pale cheeks, exclaimed with deep emotion:—

"God bless you, my little angel, you have saved me from ruin and disgrace—from poverty and a drunkard's grave. If there where ever angels on earth you are one; God bless you, God bless you," and placing a bill in the hand of the mother, said, "please accept this trifle as a token of my regards and esteem, for your little girl has done me a kindnes no wealth can ever repay. And remember whenever you are in want you will ever find a true friend," at the same time giving her his name and address. Taking her child by the hand she turned to go, but pausing at the door; said:—

"God bless you, gentlemen, and please accept the heartfelt thanks of a poor and friendless woman for the kindness and courtesy you have shown her," and before any one could reply, she was gone.

A silence of several minutes ensued which was at last broken by the proprietor exclaiming:—

"Gentlemen, that lady is right, and I have sold my last glass of whiskey, and if any of you want any more you will have to go elsewhere."

"And I have drank my last glass of whiskey," said a young man who had long been given up as utterly beyond the reach of those who had a deep interest in his welfare—that he had sunk too low to ever reform. "There is a temperance organization in this city called the Temple of Honor, and at their next meeting I shall send up my name to be admitted. Who will go with me?"

"I!" "I!" "I!" and "I!" several exclaimed in a chorus, and fifteen names were added to his.

True to his word, the owner of the saloon where this strange scene was enacted, disposed of his entire stock the next day, and is now engaged in an honorable business. Would to Heaven that lady could have gone into every hamlet, and town and city throughout our country, and meet with the same cheering result.

Yes, it is the mothers and wives, and sisters of the drunkard that can tell what whiskey has done and is doing. You need not follow him to the sumptuous and brilliant palace erected by King Alcohol and his confederate to lure him from the paths of virtue and usefulness, to that of ruin and disgrace. You need not follow him when his money is gone and he is thrust from the most fashionable resort to those less respectable. You need not follow him to the lowest dens of crime and iniquity, as he daily reels home or lies in the gutter in a condition lower than the brutes of the field. No! but follow him to the place he calls home, and the hollow cheeks, the dimmed eyes, the tear that rolls down the patent, careworn face of the forsaken wife, and the cries of the starving children, tell their own story in a language inexpressible in words.

POOR FARE.—At a station on the overland route, the keeper got rather short of provisions; in fact, had nothing left but a bottle of mustard and some bacon. As the stage stopped there one day to change horses, the passengers seated themselves at the table, and the host said:

"Shall I help you to a piece of the bacon?"

"No, thank you, I never eat bacon," said the traveler.

"Well, then," said the station-keeper "help yourself to mustard."

Concerning Man.

Wonders at home by familiarity cease to excite astonishment; but thence it happens that many know but little about the "house we live in"—the human body. We look upon a house from the outside, just a whole, or a unit, never, thinking of the many rooms, the curious passages, and the ingenious internal arrangements of the house, or of the wonderful structure of the man; the harmony and adaptation of all his parts.

In the human skeleton, about the time of maturity, are 165 bones.

The muscles are about 500 in number.

The length of the alimentary canal is thirty-two feet.

The amount of blood in an adult averages thirty pounds, or full one-fifth of the entire weight.

The heart is six inches in length, and four inches in diameter, and beats seventy times per minute, 4,200 times per hour, 100,800 times per day, 36,772,000 times per year, 2,565,440,000 in three score and ten; and at each beat two and a half ounces of blood are thrown out of it, one hundred and seventy-five ounces per minute, six hundred and fifty-six pounds per hour, seven and three-fourths tons per day. All the blood in the body passes through the heart in three minutes. This little organ, by its ceaseless industry, lifts the enormous weight of 370,700,200 tons.

In the alloted span
The Psalmist gave to man,

The lungs will contain about one gallon of air, at their usual degree of inflation. We breathe on an average 1,200 times per hour, inhale 600 gallons of air, or 24,400 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air-cells of the lungs excede 20,000 square inches, an area very nearly equal to the floor of a room twelve feet square.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is three pounds and eight ounces, of a famale two pounds and four ounces. The nerves are all connected with it, directly or by the spinal marrow. These nerves, together with their branches and minute ramifications, probably exceed 10,000,000 in number, forming a "body guard" outnumbering by far the greatest army ever marshalled!

The skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one-forth to one-eighth of an inch in thickness. Its average area in an adult is estimated to be 2,000 square inches. The atmospheric pressure being about fourteen pounds to the square inch, a person of medium size is subjected to a pressure of 40,000 pounds! Pretty tight thing.

Each square inch of skin contains about 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may be likened to a little drain-tile, one-fourth of an inch long, making an aggregate length of the entire surface of the body of 291,166 feet or a tile-ditch for draining the body almost forty miles long.

Man is made marvellously. Who is eager to investigate the curious, to witness the wonderful works of Omnipotent Wisdom, let him not wander the wide world round to seek them, but examine himself. "The proper study of mankind is man."

Don't Hurry.

Believe in traveling on step by step; don't expect to be rich in a jump. Slow and sure is better than fast and flimsy. Perseverance, by its daily gains, enriches a man far more than fits and starts of a fortunate speculation. Little fishes are sweet. Every day a thread, makes a skein in a year. We creep before we walk, walk before we run, and run before we ride. In getting rich, the more haste the worse speed. Haste trips up its own heels. Don't give up a small business till you see that a large one will pay you better. Even crumbs are bread. Better a little furniture than an empty house. In these hard times, he who can sit on a stone and feed himself, had better not move. From bad to worse is poor improvement. A crust is hard fare, but none at all is harder. Don't jump out of the frying-pan into the fire. Remember, many men have done well in very small shops. A little trade with profit, is better than a great concern at a loss; a small fire that warms you, is better than a large one that burns you. A great deal of water can be got from a small pipe, if the bucket is always there to catch it. Large hares may be caught in small woods. A sheep may get fat in a small meadow, and starve in a great desert. He who undertakes too much, succeeds but little.

FINDING FAULT.—There are certain people who cannot live without finding fault. No matter what may be the subject or custom, they raise some frivolous objection. A writer in our exchanges complains that our churches are closed a portion of the Sabbath, thereby opening a way to intemperance and kindred vices. We presume he refers to the very, wise custom recently introduced, of devoting the morning or afternoon to the Sabbath School. The fact is both minister and people are over-taxed. There is too much "going to meeting." They need more time for rest, for reflection, for a communing with their own hearts at home.

A CINCINNATI man got rid of his mother-in-law by greasing the cellar steps with soft soap.

A Beautiful Love Story.

The Count de St. Croix, belonging to one of the noblest and wealthiest families of France, became engaged after a long courtship to a lady his equal in position and fortune, and famous for her beauty. Shortly after the happy day was appointed which was to render two loving hearts one, the Count was ordered to the siege of Sebastopol; so he girded on his sabre and at the head of his regiment marched to the battle field. During the Count's absence, it happened that his affianced had the small pox, and hovering between life and death, she recovered, but found her beauty hopelessly lost. The disease had assumed in her case the most virulent character, and left her not only disfigured, but seamed and scarred to such a frightful extent that she became hideous to herself, and resolved to pass the remainder of her days in the strictest seclusion.

A year passed away, when one day the Count, accompanied by his valet, presented himself at the residence of his betrothed and solicited an interview. This was refused. He, however, with the persistence of a lover, pressed the suit; and finally the lady made her appearance closely muffled in a veil. At the sound of her voice the Count rushed forward to embrace her, but stepping aside, she tremblingly told him the story of her sorrows, and burst into tears. A heavenly smile broke over the Count's handsome features, as raising his hand above he exclaimed: "It is God's work! I am blind!" It was even so. When gallantly leading his regiment to the attack a cannon ball passed so closely to his eyes that, while they left the expression unchanged and his countenance unmarked, it robbed him forever of his sight. It is unnecessary to add that their marriage was shortly solemnized. It is said that there might often be seen at the Emperor's reception an officer leaning on the arm of a lady closely veiled, and they seem to be attracted to the spot by their love of music.

Act From Principal.

How few persons there are whose lives are governed entirely by principle, rather than inclination. Even those of us, who may be endeavoring to live for high purposes, come far short of our aspirations; alas! how very far short. How often we find ourselves debating with our convictions of right and duty questioning if it might not be as well for us to yield to inclination just for the time, promising our disturbed consciences that we will make up for the present indulgence, by more rigorous self-denial and strict attention to duty. Vain fallacious reasoning of a week nature! we can never make up for one neglected opportunity, one misspent hour, one wrong, selfish act. Once past, the opportunity unimproved, the hour wasted, the act committed, and it is beyond our reach—beyond recall, except in thoughts of regret. We may atone for it, but we can never change the past. Alas! how painfully are we aware of this fact.

Then should we all endeavor the more earnestly to make our lives ornaments of principle; for we all know that after all, the path of duty, though sometimes rugged, is not without sweet pleasure; and let us never follow our inclinations if they would lead us away from right. Then shall we be permitted at the last to look back upon our lives with satisfaction, feeling that we have "done what we could," and that Our Father regards us with smiles of approbation.

Trial.

No man is a man till tried—till he has water and scorching fires. A man surrounded with comforts, friends and relatives, food and raiment—whose barns are filled with plenty, and whose presses gush out with new wine—who eats to the full, sits and reads, doles about, takes his ease and pleasure, smokes his pipe, chews his cud—is he a man? Far from it. A man is not a man until he is proved—has passed the ordeal, drunk the bitter cup, risen above life's conflicts; mounted the billows wave. Was Joseph a man in deed, till he was cast into the pit, torn away from the bewitching tempter, leaving his garments behind—till he groaned in the prison house? Was Moses a Man till he passed the firery ordeal? Was Daniel a man till cast into the lion's den? Was Paul truly a man till he suffered perils by sea and land, and received forty stripes save one? "No man that warreth entangleth himself with affairs of this life, that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier." Let a man be forsaken of all, as was Job—swing loose on faith, on God, and retain his integrity, rising triumphantly—is he not a man? Who besides?

BENEVOLENCE.—There is more pleasure in seeing others happy, than in seeking to be happy ourselves. There is more pleasure in acquiring knowledge to be useful, than in merely seeking knowledge for our own happiness. If young and old persons would spend half the money in making others happy which they spend in useless dress and luxury how much more real pleasure would it give them.

THE rebuke which is tempered with love, will always be most effectual.

This Remedy does not simply relieve for a short time, but it produces perfect and permanent cures of the worst cases of Chronic Nasal Catarrh, and I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. "Cold in the head" and Catarrhal Headache are cured with a few applications. If you have a discharge from the nose, offensive or otherwise, stopping up of the nose at times, partial loss of the sense of smell, taste or hearing, eyes watering or weak, feel dull, have pain or pressure in the head, you may rest assured that you have Catarrh. Thousands annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, terminate in Consumption and end in the grave. No diseases is so common, more deceptive or less understood by physicians. I will send my pamphlet on Catarrh to any address free. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is now

ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we pulish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

MANHOOD

In the Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lackluster eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so facinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption! The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Prussians have commenced the bombarding of Paris producing fearful havoc, destroying many houses and injuring many people. All the French forts were attacked simultaneously, which returned the fire briskly. The losses of the French were heavy and the inhabitants of the doomed city are despondent. The magnificent dome of the hotel des Invalids has been shattered to fragments. Many women and children have been killed. Over two thousand shells are fired into the city daily.

The French city of Peronne has capitulated to the Prussians with five thousand prisoners. The French have gained a few battles in the interior.

In Croton, England, an explosion in a colliery took place, killing thirty-seven men. The English people are beginning to exhibit symtoms of sympathy for the French, by immense public meetings. Bismarck has taken exceptions to such marks of sympathy.

FROM HARRISBURG.

Mr. Davis of the Senate introduced an act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of insurance companies, and the licensing of foreign insurance companies.

Mr. Buckalew offered a resolution that the petition of certain citizens and electors of Philadelphia, contesting the election of Rob't P. Dechert as Senator from the First Senatorial district, be referred to a committee of five Senators, with instructions to report thereon.

In the House a message was received from the Governor relative to Erie Harbor, setting forth the complaints of the United States Government on the alleged encroachments of the Marine Hospital on the harbor tending to the injury of navigation therein.

The Senate and House have got their standing committees appointed and are now in good working order. As yet but very few bills have been introduced.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The statistics of the Methodist Episcopal church, recently published, report 9,193 traveling preachers—an increase of 363 over last year; 11,404 local preachers; 1,173,009 full members—an increase of 58,387, and 194,055 probationers—an increase of 9,809. It is evident that, as usual, a very large proportion of the probationers cease to become full members. There are 13,873 churches—an increase of 1,325, or of 3½ every day of the year. There has been a decrease of the membership in the Maine, Georgia, Holston, (Tennessee), Louisiana and St. Louis Conferences, some of which show that the Northern Methodists within their bounds are unsuccessfully competing with the Southern and Colored Methodist Churches. But other Southern Conferences—as Alabama, North and South Carolina, Mississippi and Texas—show a gratifying increase. During the six years from 1865 there has been a steady increase in the number of infant baptisms reported from 32,891 to 50,453. There are 16,912 Sunday schools, with 189,412 officers, and 1,221,393 scholars—an increase of 4,806.

THE NEW STATE CONSTITUTION.

There is a general inclination of the more intelligent portion of the people of this State to revise our State Constitution. They contend that the many different interests of the Commonwealth have progressed so rapidly in their development that our present constitution is not comprehensive enough to equally foster and protect them all. While we are willing to admit that the habits and usages of one generation would not be entirely compatible to those composing the one succeeding it, yet the changing or alteration of the chartered Rights of the citizen should be approached with a great deal of deep thought and care, lest while we attempt to remedy a few evils we perpetrate greater ones up on the people.

As the revision of our constitution is recommended by many of the best judicial minds in the State, and by Governor Geary in his late able message, we may expect the present Legislature to pass the necessary Acts for carying the revision, or amendments, into effect. In doing so, they should carefully guard the interests of the masses against all encroachments upon their natural rights by powerful monopolies, by placing such restrictions upon them, that when the constitutional reform Convention assemble, it will be entirely free from the control of grasping, ambitious and heartless corporations. Unless such restrictions are enforced, we fear that the revised Constitution would be more oppressive than the present one.

A Vermonter insists that women's tears will draw a "heftier" load than any steers he ever broke in.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Jas. J. Wilson has been removed from his position as commissioner of the land office.

Congress passed the resolution creating commissioners to visit San Domingo and report to the President in regard to the wishes of the people of that country to the annexation of it to the U. S. Benj. Wade, Caleb Cushing and Mr. Cornell were appointed commissioners. The President invited Fred. Douglass to go with them as a visitor.

Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong, member from this district, and chairman of the committee on Indian affairs, reported a bill in regard to the Cheroke Neutral lands in Kansas. The report confirms the title of those lands conveyed to James F. Joy and says that all settlers who entered upon the neutral lands after the treaty of 1866, have no title and are trespassers.

There is quite a pressure being brought to bear on Congressmen to grant lands to soldiers.

A bill has been reported in the House apportioning the congressional districts. It gives the House of Representatives 288 members. The number of the present House is 243. The ratio of representation is fixed at 137,500 souls to each member.

THE BEAVER FAMILY.—In the State of Ohio there resided a family consisting of an old man by the name of Beaver and his three sons, all of whom were hard "pets," who had often laughed to scorn the advice and entreaties of a pious though very eccentric minister who resided in the same town. It happened one of the boys was bitten by a rattlesnake and was expected to die, when the minister was sent for in great haste. On his arrival he found the young man very penitent and anxious to be prayed with. The minister calling on the family, kneeled down and prayed in this wise:

"O Lord, we thank thee for rattlesnakes; we thank thee because a rattle-snake has bitten Jim. We pray thee send a rattle-snake to bite John; send one to bite Bill; send one to bite Sam; and, O Lord, send the biggest kind of a rattle-snake to bite the old man, for nothing but rattlesnakes will ever bring the Beaver family to repentance!"

ENCOURAGING.—Dr. John, of the North Carolinian, complains that some of the papers of that region copy his editorial without giving credit. I is an encouraging sign for the literature and morals of that State. The stealing should be tolerated for the sake of the good taste which the kind of thieving indicates.—Missionaries are needed in that country and we are glad to see them appreciated.

GENERAL PILLOW, of United States army education and Confederate army fame, whose large landed estates in Tennessee suffered some deserved waste and damage in the war times, now asks that the State of Tennessee make good his losses. He considerately offers, however, to take Tennessee bonds at par for his claim, which relieves the demand just about forty per cent. of its enormous absurdity.

Now all the girls need'nt go to San Francisco for a street car ride, because the gallant conductors not only lift the ladies off their cars, but also take straw out of the car and lay it in the street, so that the girls can get in the car without getting their boots muddy.

The Maryland State government cost $2,475,069 17 last year. The funded debt is $13,317,475 77, of which $6,000,-055 74 is not provided for, and must be met by taxation until the stocks owned by the State and now styled unproductive shall become remunerative.

Enumeration of a female eye: The glare, the stare, the sneer, the invitation, the defiance, the denial, the consent, the glance of love, the flash of rage, the sparkling of hope, the languishment of softness, the squint of suspicion, the fire of jealousy, and the lustre of pleasure.

A Methodist church in Norwich, Conn has two of its seats let on this wager: The lessee pays $10 and agrees to occupy one of the seats during one service every Sunday for a year. If he does so he is to receive his $10 back, but if he violates the contract one jot or tittle he is to pay the church $50.

One Texas paper asked another an easy question of the sort, asked by a notorious liar and scoundrel, would be self-degradation. He is one of the dirtiest old dogs that ever tainted the moral atmosphere with the stench of pollution, and the editors of papers indorsing him are no better."

In a certain Wisconsin village there is neither a church nor school edifice, and in lieu of any other place to hold forth, the itinerant Methodist preacher, who visits the place semi-monthly, preaches in a saloon. The accommodating proprietor stands treat all round at the close and the congregation disperse highly satisfied.

An Atlanta paper has the following interesting paragraph: A lady in this city tied her husband's hands and feet the other day just for fun, and then went through his pockets for a certan billetdoux, and found it. His physician tells him that his face won't be badly scarred, though he may remain permanently bald.

Governor Powell Clayton, as it is now conceded, will be the next Senator from Arkansas. He is a native of Pennsylvania, and practiced his profession of civil engineer in Philadelphia, until he went to Lawrence, Kansas, in 1857. He served through the war, attaining the rank of Brigadier General. He was originally a Democrat, but the war converted him.

While gold is worth $17 per ounce, blonde hair is worth $25, and it is suggested that a ship-load or Dane would be enough to start a promising colony, say in Colorada, which possesses all the advantages of climate, &c., for the cultivation of hair. The first crop would more than pay expenses, and besides the country would be benefitted by the enterprise.

Medical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to cold and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remidies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either residence in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily

For Liver Complaints, arise from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Perpared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

PRICE, $1,00 PER BOTTLE.

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 5.

BY REFORMATION.

It is entirely practicable to extend universal information on the subject of intemperance. Its nature, causes, evils, and remedy—may be universally made known. It is practicable to form an association for the special purpose of Superintending this great subject, and whose untiring energies shall be exerted in sending out agents to pass through the land, and collect information, to confer with influential men, and bodies of men, to deliver addresses at popular meetings, and form societies auxiliary to the parent institution. This not only may be done, to much greater advantage than has heretofore been done. For in what has been done seems to have fallen far short of its mark. Too long have we slept. From every part of the land we hear of the doings of this fell destroyer, and yet the one 1000th part has not been told. But when the facts are collected and more fully published, will not the country become awakened, to a true sense of duty? Will not the christian community become aroused to a sense of their duty? Will not the church see the horrible condition in which it now stands?

All the laws of the human mind must cease, if such disclosures as may be made do not produce a great effect. Something has been done, and more must be done. Most assuredly it is not too late to achieve a reformation. We have had individual reformations, we must now make it national, our hands are not bound, our feet are not put in fetters—and the nation is not so fully set upon destruction, as that warning and exertion will be in vain. All denominations of christians in the nation may with great ease be induced to unite in a full union upon this all important subject. To lend their power and influence in excluding the use and commerce of ardent spirits. They alike fell and deplore this evil, and, united, have it in their power to put a stop to it. The churches of our Lord Jesus Christ, of every name, can do much to aid in this reformation. They are organized to shine as lights in the world, and to avoid the appearance of evil.

But by the tree the fruit is known, whether it be of good or evil. There is a part of the community who ought to be fully enlisted and united in this sacred cause, and the very profession which they make should have found them prepared for this great enterprise. But from the church arises one of the most formadable obstacles to the success of this cause. (The form, manner, style and workings of these obstacles, we will now fully treat upon in future.) In the church are found at this moment some of the strong holds of opposition. They cling to their bottles with all the perseverance of martyrs, and they seem to have never learned the doctrine of the cross. The manner and style in which you cling to your bottles, we hope to be fully able to explain when we come to speak of obstacles. They cannot imagine that it is their duty to deny themselves a gratification for the sake of accomplishing the reformation of the world. I do not charge you as whiskey drinkers. Oh no, notwithstanding such a charge might not be far amiss among many church members. But Satan hold you through gratification in another shape, than merely in the sin of whiskey drinking, and through his subtile ingenuity does he blindfold your eyes, and holds you dumb-founded, and in the end your lot will be no better than that of the drunkard, the blood of whom, and which has gone before as a witness against you. You seem to have overlooked the very spirit of that religion which you profess to venerate. Have patience and we will try to make clear our position, and be fully able to show the ground upon which you are standing.

I told you when I commenced I would treat this subject without fear, favor, or affection. To go to work and study this matter caemly and dispassionately, and seek wisdom from "HIM" who is alone able to give, that your souls may not be contaminated, with the foul odor of self righteousness, and that you may find yourselves in a simler situation to those, who appeared before the Judgment seat, and claimed admittance into Heaven on the grounds, that they had piped and harped and even claimed to have cast out devils in the name of the Lord. But hear the great response, depart ye workers of iniquity, I never knew you. But the church sleeps on this subject, as if it would never awake. A large proportion of professing christians have lent us but little aid in this great work, and large numbers prove by their conduct and actions to be the deadest and open advocates of ardent spirits. They seem willing to fasten upon their children all the evils of the monster intemperance, for the gratification which spirituous liquors affords them through their traffic and sale. But they must not be allowed this sleepy apathy and negligence any longer. The sound of the voice of him who has been so long disgraced is now been heard. The tears of the widow and the cry of the orphan can no longer be hushed, and the church must come forward as a body, in full unison with its God, and lend the power of religion to arrest the progress of this mighty evil

Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, is a duty of all, and more especially is it the duty of the church. Now in the language of the true believer, is not the church covenanted to be a worker for and with God, in achieving the purposes of redemption, and it must employ its energies to widen the boundaries of its holy empire, or forfeit its promise You who compose the visible church, it is not necessary for me here to name the different offices and positions you hold in the church. It was in you a voluntary compact, and you pledged in that hour, your prayers, your whole influence, your purse, property and all that you have, to advocate and carry out the great principle of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. And Heaven has recorded that vow to be brought up against you, if it be violated, in the day of retribution.

It was wholly at your option, whether you would enter into thais weeping covenant, but you have entered, you have sworn, and cannot go back. You then relinquished for ever your personal rights, and have had, or you claim to have ever since a community of interest with God and his people. Now, God is employed in doing good, and his people too if they are like him. How then will it correspond with your vows, to stand aloof from your duty, and disregard the commands of God, and let the great demon intemperance, (sustained by the carnal law) continue its work of destruction and that too in your midst, and in open day continually before your eyes? And let the poor drunken captive perish in their claims, and whose lives were purchased with the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. But are usurped by the prince of Hell through his agent the license law. And let a whole condemned world go to the judgment, with all this blood upon it unsanctified! Oh! how will your broken vows rise and haunt you, in that day when the wealth you have saved shall be weighed in the balance with the souls it might have been the means of saving.

We may judge a man's character by what he loves—what pleases him. If a person manifests delight in low, sordid objects, the vulgar song and debasing language, in the misfortunes of his fellows or animals, we may at once determine the complexion of his character. On the contrary, if he love purity, truth, modesty—if virtuous pursits engage his heart, and draw out his affections—we are satisfied that he is an upright man. When we see a young man fond of fine clothes, and making a fop of himself, it is a sure sign that he thinks the world consists af outside show and ostentation, and he is certain to make an unstable man, without true affection or friendship, fond of change and excitement, and wearying of those objects and pursuits which, for a time, give him pleasure.

HOW TO GET BRAINS.—Mark Twain thus prescribes for an aspirant for literary fame: "Young Author."—Yes, Agassiz does recommend authors to eat fish, because the phosphorus in it makes brains. So far you are correct. But I cannot help you to a decision about the amount you need to eat—not with certainty. If the specimen composition you send is about your usual average, I should judge a couple of whales would be all you want for the present. Not the largest kind, but simply good middling sized whales.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Wednesday Morning, January 18, 1871.

INSTRUMENT FOR RELIEVING CHOKED ANIMALS.—How is it made, S. T. ANS.—Wet, roll, and sew together a strip of sole leather of the desired length, and wide enough to be about an inch in diameter when finished, then get the tinman to rivet on to each end of the leather tube, pieces of lead so as to form an oblong hollow ball, soldered together, about an inch and a half in diameter, with one hole at the end of the ball and two or more holes in its side, through which the creature may breathe or gas escape, and you will have a flexible rod of sufficient strength to effect the purpose One of the end balls should be left a little flaring, something like a funnel, to fit more firmly to the obstruction in the throat, so that either end could be used as seemed most efficient.

TO CLEAN KID GLOVES.—Have ready a little new milk in one saucer, a piece of white soap in another, and a clean cloth folded two or three times. On the cloth spread out the glove smooth and neat. Take a piece of flannel, dip it in the milk, then rub off a good quantity of soap on the wetted flannel, and commence to rub the glove toward the fingers, holding it firmly with the left hand. Continue this process until the glove, if white, looks of a dingy yellow, though clean; if colored, till it looks dry and spoiled. Lay it to dry, and the operator will soon be gratified to see that the old glove looks nearly new. It will be soft glossy, smooth and elastic

SCURVY LEGS ON POULTRY.—What will cure it, R. W. ANS.—Fowls that show any symptoms of scurvy legs should at once be separated from the others and placed in warm dry quarters. Give them plenty of wholesome food, and as often as once a day some animal food. Wash the legs with a weak solution of sugar of lead, in the morning, and annoint them with clean lard, mixed with ointment of creosote just before they go to roost. Keep them from wet. Others advise to wash the legs with kerosene oil; annointing with salt grease.

LAMENESS IN HOGS.—I have several hogs that are stiff and lame in the fore legs. What is the cause and cure V. B. S. ANS.—This is caused sometimes by the large pores in the back part of the legs getting clogged. They are sometimes called air holes. They are a little above the knuckles in back part of the legs. Wash the lame legs with soap and luke warm watter, using a stiff brush, and rubbing hard till the pores are washed open the lameness will leave.

ABORTION IN COWS.—How can it be prevented, W. G. ANS.—Powdered sulphate of iron, two drams; powdered gentian root, half an ounce; mix and one dose. This will be a powerful tonic, adding richness to the blood, strengthening the mucus surface and imparting health and strength to the whole system, thereby enabling the animal to carry her young to its full time. Good and generous feeding is also a preventive by itself, but better in conjunction with the above powder.

LEMON CATSUP.—Roll well half a dozen lemons to increase their juice; grate off the peel; squeeze out the juice; remove the seed; add a tablespoonful of grated horseradish, the same of ground ginger, half as much mace and cinnamon, one grated nutmeg. Pour over a pint of vinegar; scald five minutes. When cold, strain and bottle. Use to flavor piquant sauces.

CATCHING CHICKENS.—What will cure a cat of catching chickens, P. B. ANS.—When a cat is seen to catch chickens, tie one around her neck, and make her wear it for two or three days Fasten it securely, for she will make incredible efforts to get rid of it. Be firm for that time, and the cat is cured she will never again desire to touch a bird.

QUICK WAFFLES.—One pint of buttermilk, one pint of sifted flour, one egg, one tablespoonful of melted lard, a large teaspoonful of soda. Send them to the table as baked. They are very good and light while fresh, but spoil very seen if permitted to stand.

DRIED PEAS.—Soak several hours in water; pick out all defective ones; put them in hot water; boil until tender. Dress with butter, or boil with a piece of pickled pork; drain from the water through a colander before adding the butter. Salt to taste.

BEEF KIDNEY.—Should be parboiled; cut in small pieces; seasoned highly with pepper and salt, and fried as the liver. Serve with tomato sauce.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.
GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.
Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.
People who travel by other routes, and also peoplewho, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.
Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

HOME NEWS.

CHAIRS of every description, at Geo. O'bryan's Furniture Store, opposite the Court House.

A PERSON who knows, says that Altoona whiskey is sharp enough to cut glass.

WE know some ministers that would make good martyrs—they are so dry that they would burn well.

WM. H. HARTER, of Haines township, killed a beef, the other day, 2½ years old which dressed 700 pounds.

JAMES PARTON, the husband of Fanny Fern, will lecture in Reynolds' Hall, on Tuesday Eve., January 24th, 1871, on "One Hundred Years Ago."

THE affable Proprietor of the Book Store in the Post Office, Jacob Miller, Esq., has flung his new sign to the breeze.

CREDITORS never disturb a man so long as he is getting up in the world. But as soon as he commences to go down, all have a dun for him.

DIRECTORS and others are invited to call at the County Superintendents Office in the Court House, and get a copy of the Penn'a. School Report for 1870 Office open on Saturdays only.

LOCATING.—The engineers of the L. C. & S. C. Railroad have commenced locating the road along Penns creek, for the purpose of getting things into shape for the work upon the tunnel this winter.

ORPHAN'S SCHOOL.—There are in attendance at the different Soldier's Orphan's Schools, in this state, 5,624 children. Of these Centre county furnishes 201. All the other counties but Cameron, are represented.

SCHOOL VISITS.—Since the County Institute, the Superintendent has been visiting schools in Harris, Ferguson, Halfmoon and Patton districts, and reports the schools, with a few unpleasant exceptions, in good condition.

CENTRE County contains 1075 square miles; 688,600 acres of land and has a population of 34,394 souls. It was formed out of parts of Mifflin, Northumberland, Lycoming and Huntingdon counties, on February 13, 1800.

GOOD.—Signor J. H. Sharpe, gave two of his able instructive and amusing performances to large and appreciative audiences, in Milesburg, on last Friday and Saturday evenings. He deserves the encouragement as well as the patronage of all good people.

MORE FAT.—Jesse Leidy, of West Myerstown, Lebanon county, Pa., recently killed a hog, only 15 months old, which weighed when dressed 607 lbs. What do you think of that Andrew Lytle and ye Centre county Farmers.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Pennsylvania is situate between 39 deg. 43 min. and 42 deg. north latitude, and 2 deg. 17 min. east, and 3 deg. 31 min. west longitude, from Washington. Its mean length is 280,39 miles, mean breadth 158,05 miles; its greatest length is 302 13-40 miles, and greatest breadth 175 miles and 192 perches.

ENTERPRISE.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Keller & Musser, merchants, Bishop street, Bellefonte, Pa. This is a strong and good firm, and always keep on hand the best of everything in their line. Farmers, lumbermen and others would do well to cut this out for future reference.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due L. B. McIntire, Esq., merchant, at Pleasant Gap, for a splendid pair of kid gloves presented to us last week. Mr. McIntire is an honest upright citizen, a clever and affable gentleman, and as a merchant understands his business well. His store is one of the best country stores within our knowledge. We wish him success.

DRUGS.—We call attention this week, to the advertisement of Zeller & Jarret, Druggists, Bishop street, Bellefonte, Pa. This is one of the finest and largest drug stores in central Pennsylvania. Messrs. Zeller & Jarrett are educated Druggists—careful and competent. We have no hesitancy in recommending them to the physicians and people of this and adjoining counties.

TRIED FOR MURDER.—At the Court of Quarter Sessions, held in Clearfield last week, Martin Harner, was tried for the murder of Wm. Dale, some time last summer, and was convicted of Manslaughter and sentenced 11 years to the penitentiary.

John H. Orvis, Esq., of this place defended him. Mr. Orvis is very fortunate in saving the lives of his clients who happen to be tried for capital offenses, and he is considered the ablest criminal lawyer in central Pennsylvania. On intricate civil cases, he still maintains his high position as an able advocate and sound counsellor.

INSURANCE.—In another column will be found the annual statement of the Penns valley Fire Insurance Co. from which it will be seen that the affairs are in a healthy condition. The risks and insurances of the company, in force at the present time, sum up three and a half million dollars. By looking over the expenditures, the members of the company will readily perceive, that greater economy could not have been practiced, and we venture to say that there is no other company in the United States, doing the same amount of business which is conducted with as little expense, and in which the losses and assessments have been less. We think it the duty of every property holder this side the county to become a member of our own home company. There are not only less risks, but the affairs are conducted by our citizens, men whom we know and in whom we can repose confidence. Since the organization of the company, some fourteen years ago, not a single dollar can be shown to have been misappropriated, and the officers and directors have ever been faithful in the discharge of their duties.—Centre Hall Reporter.

Go to Brachbill's Furniture Store, and see his splendid stock of new and cheap furniture.

PANTHERS HEAD.—On last Thursday, we were shown a panthers head, by Wm. Wallace Hayes, formerly a resident of this place, and who is now here on a visit to his friends. This head was sent to this place in 1858, directed to W. W. Hayes, by Dr. J. S. Love, Pine Swamp, Pa. When it arrived in town Mr. Hayes had moved to Shamokin, Pa., and the box containing it was stored away in old Dr. Linn's garret. After the death of Dr. Linn it was removed to the garret of Wm. P. Wilson, who is a son-in-law of Dr. Linn, and there remained unopened until last Thursday, when Mr. Hayes having occasion to enter the garret of Mr. Wilson in search of curiosities, which he supposed were stored there, discovered this box directed to him. He immediately opened the box and discovered the skeleton of a panthers head. It had been in that box from May 18th, 1858 up till that time—Thursday, January 12th, 1871. We believe Mr. Hayes has sent the head to the Cabinet of Curiosities in Philadelphia.

EVERYBODY, and everybody else, that wants to know what went on "One Hundred Years Ago," is going to hear James Parton on the 24th of January, 1871.

THE CONVOCATION OF WILLIAMSPORT.—This body, a local organization of the Episcopal church, has just closed a very interesting session.

The meeting was held at Christ Church, Danville, 11th and 12th. Eight clergymen were present. Several public services were well attended and delightful in themselves; and three business and conversational sessions resulted in the accomplishment of some important missionary business, an instructive discussion of one or two points of theological interest, and the interchange of experience and advice, as various questions of pastoral difficulty were presented.

The next meeting is to be in June next, at Bellefonte. The convocation includes thirteen organized parishes, and several missionary stations.—Gazette & Bulletin.

Go to Brachbill's Furniture Store, and see the elegant Secretaries and Book Cases of his own manufactrue.

UNDER WHICH KING?—The Tyrone Herald is a spasmodical paper, or has a spasmodic editor. A few weeks ago it advocated the nomination of E. J. Pruner, of Tyrone, for Auditor General, and asserted that he was the best man in the State for that position. Last week he leaves Pruner in the back-ground and asserts that Gen. Beaver of this place is the only man in the State capable of filling that position. Now, we would like to know under which king Brainerd is serving? We think he is not gymnast enough to perform that difficult acrobatic feat of riding two horses at one time while they are running in opposite directions. But we will admit, if any one can perform such a feat, Brainerd is the man.

SELLING OFF AT COST.—Messrs. Graham & Son, manufacturers and dealers in boots and shoes, propose to sell off their entire stock at cost during the week of the January Court. They are not going to quit business, but having a heavy stock on hand, they wish to dispose of it, preparatory to the opening of the spring trade. Persons in need of boots and shoes, for men, women or children will save money by calling upon Graham & Son. The reputation of these men is established. They need no encomiums from us.

"FAMOUS Americans of Recent Times," is one of Parton's last books. It is very pleasant and instructive reading. "One Hundred Years Ago," is the subject of his lecture next Tuesday evening. It will no doubt be equally instructive and interesting. In the hands of a man like Parton—wonderful for facts—we know of no subject which could afford more substantial entertainment for an evening lecture. Go and hear him by all means.

HERRAN for "One Hundred Years Ago," at Reynolds' Hall, on January 24th, 1871.

A REFORMED DRUNKARD.—Signor J. H. Sharpe, the celebrated natural ventriloquist, prestidigicator, and trick performer, or better known as the "Peter Hontz drunken showman" has become a reformed man. During one of his performances a few evenings since, (at which we chanced to be present) he gave the audience a short biographical sketch of his life, in which he stated that "he had been a poor miserable drunken vagabond for fifteen years, but the last six months he lived a sober man and with the help of God would continue to do so through life." His graphic description of "Black Valley Railroad, Drunkards Curve, Snake Station, &c., was, within itself, well worth the price of admission aside from the performance or reformance. His resolve is a good and noble one; may he ever guard, protect, and keep it. Reader, should he and "Old Peter" happen in your midst the cause in which they are engaged is well worthy of your desirable patronage. From a well wisher.

COFFIN'S of all sizes, styles and prices at Geo. O'Bryan's, opposite the Court House.

MARRIAGE.—Catch a young gentleman and lady, the best way you can; let the gentleman be raw, and the young lady good looking; put in good quantity of wine, and while he is soaking, stick in a word or two now and then about Miss ——; this will help to make him boil. When getting red in the gills, take him out into the drawing-room, set him by the lady, and soap them both with green tea; and then seat them both at the piano, and blow the flame till the lady sings; when you hear the gentleman sigh it is time to take them off, as they are warm enough. Put them by themselves in a corner of the room, or on a sofa, and there let them simper together the rest of the evening. Repeat this three or four times, taking care to place them side by side at the dinner table, and they will be ready for marriage when you want them. After marriage, care must be taken, as they are apt to turn sour.

WE presume the richest lecture of the whole course given by the Y. M. C. A., will be delivered by James Parton.

DANGEROUS LEAP.—A little son of James Brown, of Port Matilda, aged about ten years, got on the cars at Milesburg to come to this place on last Friday. He had but ten cents to pay his fare with and the Conductor supposing he wished to return told him that the fare for the round trip was twenty cents. The boy not properly understanding him thought he would have to get off the train, immediately went to the car door, and while the train was under full headway, leaped to the ground. He escaped with but a slight injury to his right leg. The conductor stopped the train and picked the little fellow up and brought him to this place, when Dr. Potter dressed his wounds and in a few hours he was running around town.

Good home-made Furniture, at Geo. O'Bryan's opposite the Court House.

SLEIGHING EXTRAORDINARY.—News have reached us that a few days ago two young ladies, white, "went Sleighing" with a fifteenth amendment about eight miles down the country, some queer actions took place and we are informed that one of the ladies asked the fifteenth amendment to take particular care of her going home. If the young man did lose one dollar and a half by taking his girl out riding, they ought not to complain, for the company was considerable mixed. (Nurse me going home.)

FOUNDRY.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Capt. Geo. A. Bayard in an other column of the REPUBLICAN. As will there be seen Capt. Bayard, is proprietor of Logan Foundry, and is prepared to make all kinds of plows and other castings used by farmers and others. Capt. Bayard was a brave soldier all through the late rebellion and knows how to make and sell castings, just as well as he knew how to thrash the rebels. Long may he wave.

BEAUTIFUL.—The other day we saw at the boot and shoe store of Powers and McClain one of the prettiest pair of men's Slippers, made by "Johny Powers," that we ever cast a wishful eye at. They were a rare gem in that line, and we know, that as yet, they have not been surpassed by any one. They were got up for that large hearted and eminent advocate, Geo. Yocum, Esq.

THE place to buy Furniture is at O'Bryan's, opposite the Court House. He sells very cheap.

INSURANCE.—Mr. Joseph A. Rankin, the indefatigable insurance Agent of this place last week presented us with a box of very nice rubber erasers, which were gotten up by the Franklin Fire Insurance Co., of which Mr. Rankin is Agent. This is an old and reliable company with cash assetts of over five millions of dollars.

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is the best preparation for the hair in the market, and always gives satisfaction. Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with others on which they make more profit.

FANNY FERN'S husband, who goes by the name of James Parton, will lecture on the customs, manners, people, &c. and so on, that excited and acted "One Hundred Years Ago," on Jan. 24th.

BELLEFONTE COMBINATION.—This is the name of an amature theatrical troupe composed entirely of young men of this place which held forth in Reynolds' Opera House on last Friday night to a good house. The performance was good, and some parts of it very amusing. The recitation of Longfellow's "Paul Revier's Ride," by Geo. O. Boal, is spoken of by good Judges of elocution, as being par excellent.

As the boys have been to considerable expense in perfecting themselves they propose giving two more exhibitions during court week, with an entire change of programme each evening. As we believe in cultivating home talent, we hope to see the young men properly patronized by our fun loving citizens on those occasions.

DR. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substance brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Saharah on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant Remedy a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail for sixty cents.

ALL owners of property wanting the same insured, would do well to call on Isaac Haupt, as he can effect Perpetual Insurance at from 2 to 5 per cent., money to be returned any time, less 5 per cent. On all brick or stone buildings with shingle or mettle roofs, also on frame buildings from 3 months to 5 years, both at stock and mutual rates. Also horses, cattle and working oxen against theft or death by accident, in town or along the Railroad.

Isaac also sells stoves and tin-ware of every description. Bob Sleds and Sleighs on hand, all of which will be sold for 10 per cent. less than market value, for cash.

ATTENTION.—We beg to call the attention of Medical Practitioners and invalids to Speer's Standard Wine Bitters," as a mildly stimulating diuretic, sudorific and tonic aid to debilitated persons from whatever cause. Their base is Speer's pure wine, without the semblance of medication, except by herbs and roots. The most delicate ladies use them with decided advantage. They are remarkably pleasant to the taste.

Sold by Druggists.

A FIRST CLASS FRAUD.—We have the best of evidence that the advertising firm of "Moore, Howard & Co." 517 Locust St., Philadelphia, is a first class swindle. There is no such firm at that place, nor is there such a firm in the city. We hope our brethren of the press will give them a wide berth.

MORE HOGS.—The last report of large hogs came from J. M. Wagner & Co., of this place, who recently killed fifteen hogs which weighed in the aggregate 5608 lbs., the largest of which weighed 480 lbs., Messers Wagner & Co., are enterprising dealers in all kinds of grain and flour, and first class citizens.

WHEN you go "shopping" and wish to be waited upon by a good looking, and affable clerk, by all means call at Foster & Devling's and you will find Mr. Robert Irvin at his post all wreathed in smiles, who will only be too happy to administer to your wants.

BEEF.—Mr. David Wise, of Walker township, Killed a beef on the 13th inst., and sold it to those enterprising merchants, Loeb, May & Loeb which weighed, clean meat, 851 lbs., Mr. Wise is a good Republican and of course a most excellent farmer.

POLICIES issued by the Homestead Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, are non-forfeitable. Paid up policies issued for all insurance paid for.—Full cash surrender value endorsed on every policy. No loss if payments are discontinued.

LARGE CALF.—H. G. Hartsock, a first class citizen of Patton twp., and an original Abolitionist, killed a calf a few weeks ago which weighed 250 lbs. It was only six months old, and he only fed it four bushels of chop. Who can beat this?

LARGE HOGS.—G. W. Gray, a first class farmer of Patten twp., killed on the 12th inst., six hogs 17 months old each, which weighed in the aggregate 1920 lbs. The heaviest of the six weigh 355 lbs.

THE "Model Book Store" opposite the Bush House, Rankin is receiving this week the largest stock that ever came to Bellefonte, to be sold low, go and see him, whether you wish to buy or not.

THE "Model Book Store" will furnish blotters to all who favor the store by a call.

THE "Phrenological Journal" and Life Illustrated for January 1871 is on our table. To those who wish to know how they live, and why they exist, and how to control themselves and others, and what to live for, should by all means subscribe for this magazine. To those who merely vegetate like the lower order of animals it would be of no benefit. Terms. $3,00 per annum. Address Samuel R. Wells, 389 Broadway New York.

THE January number of the "Western Home" has been received and its contents are very attractive. Some of the most talented and interesting writers are contributors to this magazine. The children's department in this number is unusually interesting. It is only $1,00 a year. Address Publishers of Western Home, 133 Dearborn Street, Chicago Ill.

THE "Little Corporal Magazine for January is received. It is small praise to say that this magazine has no superior and few equals in the world, for children of all ages, and for older people with young hearts. The new serial begun in this number opens admirably, and the whole number is as full of good things "as an egg is of meat." The illustrations are exceedingly creditable. $1,50 a year, and beautiful premiums for clubs. Address Sewell & Miller Publishers, Chicago, Ill.

PETERS MUSICAL MONTHLY.—The January number of this unique publication has its usual variety of good music, comprising songs and instrumental pieces, some of which are of great merit. We regard this monthly as the best, and by far the cheapest, of all the musical periodicals now published. It is but $3 a year, and subscribers receive every month more music than they can buy by the sheet for that price.

THE N. Y. OBSERVER AND ALMANAC.—We have received from the Publishers the valuable publication for 1871. It contains 188 pages of valuable astronomical and statistical matter as well as the first Directory of New York, published in 1786. This Directory is a very rare book and four years ago a copy brought $100, at public auction. Price of Alminac entire $1,00, and every subscriber to the New York Observer will receive the entire work gratuitously, upon paying their subscriptions for one year in advance.

AMONG the many exchanges that find their way to our table none are more eagerly sought after than the Tyrone Herald. Under its present management, it has become a live and spicy paper, and deserves to be well supported. Its editor, Mr. Brainerd is a sudden paragraphest and witty editor. Success ought to attend his efforts.

PETER KOON of Boalsburg, an excellent cooper, and good citizen, killed a hog 408 days old which weighed 407 pounds.
